Monetary policy

Corrective measures for national central bank transactions breaching the monetary financing prohibition

On 18 December 2023 the Governing Council decided that recovery interest would be an appropriate corrective measure to propose to a national central bank (NCB) in the event of an infringement of the prohibition of monetary financing laid down in Article 123(1) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU). Such infringements or breaches may occur when an NCB has financed transactions that should have been financed by other public authorities or bodies. Previously, corrective actions had only taken the form of government reimbursements of the funds in question to the NCB. As of 1 January 2024, they also include interest on the reimbursement amount. The relevant interest rate will be the ten-year sovereign yield of the Member State concerned or, if this is unavailable, the interest rate according to the methodology applied by the European Commission in cases of unlawful State aid, both subject to a zero floor.

The amending legal act implements the Governing Council decision of 5 October 2023 to amend certain elements of the methodology for assessing the climate performance of issuers, within the framework of tilting the benchmark for corporate bond purchases towards issuers with a better climate performance.

Publication of a sanction decision for non-compliance with minimum reserve requirements

On 29 December 2023 the Governing Council, in line with the applicable legal framework, reviewed a sanction decision taken by the Executive Board in October 2023 and confirmed that no exception would apply with regard to the non-anonymised publication of the sanction in question, which relates to a breach by a euro area credit institution of its requirement to hold minimum reserves. Following its amendment by Regulation ECB/2023/13, Article 9(1) of Regulation ECB/1999/4 provides that the ECB must publish any decision imposing sanctions for breaches of its regulations or decisions. The publication is made on the ECB's website once the decision has become final.

Outcome of the 2022 payment system classification exercise

On 15 December 2023 the Governing Council approved the outcome of the annual exercise for the classification of payment systems, based on data for the reference year 2022. In line with the provisions of the ECB Regulation on oversight requirements for systemically important payment systems (SIPS Regulation) and of the Eurosystem's revised oversight framework for retail payment systems, this regular exercise allows the ECB to classify payment systems as systemically important payment systems (SIPS), non-systemically important large value payment systems (LVPS), prominently important retail payment systems (PIRPS), or other retail payment systems (ORPS). The outcome of the exercise is available on the ECB's website.

Appointment of the TARGET2-Securities (T2S) external examiner

On 21 December 2023 the Governing Council appointed PricewaterhouseCoopers GmbH Wirtschaftsprüfungsgesellschaft as the new T2S external examiner, following the expiry of the mandate of Deloitte GmbH Wirtschaftsprüfungsgesellschaft. The external examiner shall deliver, inter alia, an annual opinion on the effectiveness of the controls performed by the Eurosystem as part of the ongoing development and operation of T2S.
