€coin stabilizes in September, at a negative level

- In September €coin was at -0.32%, almost the same as in August.
- Set against the improvement in share prices and the easing of sovereign debt tensions, the indicator was held down by the slightly worse results of opinion surveys of firms and households.
- The €coin indicator developed by the Bank of Italy provides a summary index of the current economic situation in the euro area. The indicator is an estimate of quarterly GDP growth shorn of the most erratic components (seasonal variations, measurement errors and short-run volatility). €coin is published monthly by the Bank of Italy and CEPR.
- Next €coin release dates: Friday 26 October and Friday 30 November (provisional).

€coin and euro-area GDP – September 2012

Sources: Bank of Italy and Eurostat.

€coin collates data from a large set of macroeconomic time series (industrial production indices, business surveys, demand indicators, stock market indices and more). It extracts the information that is relevant to tracking underlying GDP trends for the entire area.

The €coin estimate is timely, leading Eurostat's official release of the area-wide GDP growth figure by several months. And it provides a reasonably close anticipation of the quarterly growth rate net of the more volatile components. The estimate of underlying growth trends by €coin has two key advantages:

- (i) monthly frequency, with release several months ahead of the official euro-area GDP estimate;
- (ii) immunity to the short-term fluctuations and measurement errors that mark quarterly output growth; that is, the index figure is an indicator of the euro area's actual growth momentum.

The following table shows the performance of the €coin indicator over the last year:

Month	€COIN
September 2011	0.03
October 2011	-0.13
November 2011	-0.20
December 2011	-0.20
January 2012	-0.14
February 2012	-0.06
March 2012	-0.03
April 2012	-0.08
May 2012	-0.03
June 2012	-0.17
July 2012	-0.24
August 2012	-0.33
September 2012	-0.32
