€-coin rises in February

- In February, based on a set of variables mostly recorded prior to the invasion of Ukraine by Russia, €-coin rose (to 0.59 from 0.01).
- The indicator was driven upward both by the improvement in firms' assessments of the economy and by the recovery in industrial production.
- The €-coin indicator developed by the Bank of Italy provides a summary index of the current economic situation in the euro area. The indicator is an estimate of quarterly GDP growth shorn of the most erratic components (seasonal variations, measurement errors and short-run volatility). €-coin is published monthly by the Bank of Italy and CEPR.
- Next €-coin release dates: Friday, 1 April and Friday, 6 May (provisional).

€-coin and euro-area GDP – February 2022

Source: Bank of Italy and Eurostat.

Note: The €-coin series is based on the real time estimates of the indicator at a given date and hence the series is not revised. On the other hand, the GDP growth rates are calculated on the basis of Eurostat's most recently published series and do reflect any changes in the historical data.

€-coin is constructed monthly by exploiting a vast set of macroeconomic time series (e.g. industrial production indices, business and households surveys, demand indicators, and stock market indices) in order to extract the data needed to estimate the underlying trend of euro-area GDP growth.

€-coin precedes by several months the official euro-area GDP figure released by Eurostat and gives an early indication of the trend net of any erratic or short-term components.

The following table shows the performance of the €-coin indicator over the last year:

Month	€-COIN
February 2021	0.96
March 2021	1.36
April 2021	0.92

October 2021	0.71
November 2021	0.16
December 2021	0.21
